Each year The Peter Fleming Food and Farm Bursary will be awarded, in the amount of $2,500, to a graduating student pursuing a post-secondary diploma or degree in one of the following disciplines:

- Geography
- Agriculture
- Engineering
- Business
- Environmental Science/Studies

The goal is to develop skills, through your studies, that can be applied to areas including: rural planning; agronomy; farm specific studies; environmental studies; food production and/or management. Agriculture and the rural economy are diverse, and how you plan to be part of it is important for this Bursary.

HOWEVER, the intent of the Award is to be for those graduates ultimately wanting to return to PEC and being part of building their community.

The student will have either be living in Prince Edward County or have been raised and schooled in Prince Edward County. Preference will go to a graduating Prince Edward Collegiate Institute student.

Application should include the following component pieces:

- A written piece (max 1000 words) on the contribution you hope to make back to your PEC Community on the completion of your studies. Why coming back to PEC is a goal; what opportunities your studies will open for you, your family, the broader community. Spell out Tell us about the program and courses you plan to take.
- A copy of your resume cited existing links to the rural community, agriculture, your interest in food/farming and rural issues; community involvement. Share successes.
- Please include a copy of your most recent transcript showing satisfactory academic results.

- Name and contact information for two community members. Either a teacher; a community member; somebody from the Agricultural Community or rural planning who can validate your contributions.
- And include a copy of the confirmation of acceptance into the school and program that matches this Bursary as outlined above.
- Also please complete and sign the attached Application.
